What Is Pet Cremation?

Pet cremation is a gentle process where your pet's body is carefully transformed into ashes through the use of heat in a special cremation chamber. Afterward, their remains are respectfully prepared and returned to you in an urn, so you can keep them close and honor their memory in a meaningful way.

Private vs. Communal Cremation:

Private Cremation

Your pet is cremated alone, and the cremated remains returned are guaranteed to be solely theirs. Families may even arrange to witness the cremation process if desired.

Communal Cremation

Pets are cremated with others, and no remains are returned. Parsell's respectfully scatters communal ashes on their farmland or over the ocean.
